Senior Will

We, the Central Seniors of the year nineteen hundred and twenty-three, school of Central High, city of Kansas City and state of Missouri, being of sound and sane minds, likewise disposing memories and disposed purses, do hereby make, publish and declare this our last will and testament, revoking all former wills, made in response to pleas, requests and bribes of whatever nature to us made by those Juniors designing upon being made our heirs.

First, we give, devise, bequeath and formally present to:

Our storm and strife, H. H. Oldendick, our Chemistry love notes, and our share in the oyster business.

To Laverne Dentel, we bequeath the right to promote emotional stage fights at any time during school hours.

We give our temperamental Wera, Miss Nathan of the commercial department, a gold medal for being a fast worker.

To our dear friend at all times, L. E. Gunter, we give a new set of glass tumblers.

To Miss Mabel Beatty, our comforter in times of unprepared lessons, we devise our heartfelt thanks.

For Madame Emma G. Clarke, our sincere and loyal friend, we give our memories of the London police force.

To Principal Otto F. Dubach, our most beloved counselor, we leave with good faith our "far famed Central."

To all members of our faculty, we leave our best regards for long prosperity, and our wishes to grow on.

To the Society of Literature and History, we leave our foot-ball team.

To the Aristonians, we leave our marcelling irons, and our framed pictures.

To the Websters, we leave a cage for Meriam Daniel Webster o'Possum in the Sweet-heart shop.

To the Shakespeares, we bequeath the right "to go, to see, to conquer" all famous stage actors and actresses.

To the Minervas, we leave with love our little sisters.

To the Thalians, we leave our admiration and congratulations for the deeds of one so young.

To the Franklins, we leave our pep, good will, and memory.

To the Classics club, we leave "comps" in the second row balcony to all future classical plays.

To Le Cercle Francais, we leave our French dictionaries.

To the Pegasus club we leave our old Luminaries, the same to be read at stable meetings.

To the Gregg Writers, we leave our old transcripts, paper medals and good wishes to grow on.

To the Kelvin Klub, we grant the right to prove the Darwin theory.

To the designing Juniors, we leave our senior pictures as an inspiration at all times.

To the Sophomores, we leave our club pins to wear at will.

To the Freshmen, we leave our society programs for their senior books.

To the R. O. T. C., we leave our society programs for their senior books.

To the school at large, we leave a trophy case in which to leave our spoils.

Lastly, we, the aforesaid Central Seniors, do hereby constitute and appoint the faculty of Central High as the executors without bond of this, our last will and testament.

All the rest, residue, and remainder of our real and personal property, wherever it might be scattered throughout the building, we give, devise and bequeath to the janitors.

IN WITNESS, WHEREOF, we have hereunto set our hand and seal, this twenty-fifth day of the month of May, A. D., nineteen hundred and twenty-three (1923).

Boys' Debate

With six months of unremitting toil, thru experienced coaches, two teams of the keenest foresight and mental ability, and the Central pep and spirit as a background, Central emerged from the annual boys' debate contest this year with one victory and one defeat to her credit.

An innovation of the annual contest this year was the change in time for holding the debates. In order that each school might be present at its home clash, the contest was held during the evening. Each negative team remained at its home school, while the affirmative squadrons met the opposing teams at the latter's school.

The subject for debate this year was "Resolved, that the United States Should Grant Ship Subsidies." On March 16 at 8 p. m. in the Central auditorium, Central's negative representatives met and defeated the affirmative delegation from Manual. Russell Knight opened the argument for Central by proving in a convincing manner that shipping industry does not need stimulation. Robert Kane, who has the outstanding honor of making the team in his sophomore year, followed as second speaker by convincing the judges that the subsidy plan would not remedy the shipping industry. As last speaker for the negative, Donald Chadwick clearly demonstrated that the ship subsidy would do positive harm, because of the complication of graft and over inflation. The strong constructive speeches and the calm oratory of the Central team, together with the clever and forceful rebuttal speeches brought a two to one victory to the blue and white.

Much credit for the victory is due Robert Heinlein, Captain. This year the honor of captaincy was bestowed on the debator, showing the greatest talent for leadership and for quick thinking. The captains acted as alternates.

In the second conflict, with Central's affirmative supporters meeting Northeast's negative at Northeast, the goddess of victory let her favor rest on Northeast in a two to one match. Although the decision was cast against Central, the defeat was by no means an ignoble one. With a splendid delivery, Harry Joslin opened the debate by proving that the United States is facing a shipping crisis. Lewis Manley proved that the ship subsidy would be a practical plan for the solution of the problem. Bernard Weinberg emphatically concluded the debate by proving that the subsidy policy was both democratic and practical. In the forceful rebuttal, produced by the Centralites, Weinberg made one of the most effective speeches that has probably ever been given in a Kansas City high school contest. Willard Weston proved invaluable as alternate and captain of the team.

Harry Bengert and Grant Torrance, who acted as secretaries for the two teams displayed an untiring effort in their desire to aid the team. To D. H. Halloway and A. B. Richmond and E. E. Rush, coaches, Central owes her heartfelt congratulations and thanks for their indefatigable aid in preparing the boys for the debate after the departure of Kenneth B. McAfee, former coach. It is to our disadvantage that Mr. Halloway will not be in Central next year. With Robert Heinlein and Willard Weston, captains, and Donald Chadwick and Robert Kane, strong men on this year's team, returning next year as veterans, a 1924 championship in boys' debate seems inevitable.

The Girls' Debate

In the strife and turmoil of political and social problems of to-day, where the nucleous, so it seems, lies in the countries of the Near East, the question often arises, "Should the United States remain aloof from foreign entanglements or should the government abandon its policy of neutrality in regard to the Near East question?" Idealists claim that it is the United States' moral obligation to intervene; that without United States protection, the smaller, weaker countries of the East could never progress. Materialists advocate that if the United States should abandon its policy of neutrality, this country would be plunged into the darkness of war and intrigue that the Orient is experiencing to-day.

Thus was based the subject of the annual girls' debate, held March 29, at 8 p. m. in the auditoriums of the four Kansas City high schools. Like the boys' debate, this annual affair was held in the evening, in order that each school might support its own team.

At Northeast, Central's affirmative team, consisting of Rebecca Brown, captain, Mary Hartman, Kathleen Carey and May Brown, alternate, met the Northeast negative. Mary Hartman opened the debate for Central by enthusiastically proving that neutrality in the Near East had become impossible, because the question which is world-wide is particularly pertaining to the United States. Kathleen Carey furnished sufficient proof that now is the opportune time to abandon neutrality. Rebecca Brown concluded the debate for the affirmative by effectively proving that the policy of abandonment was practical, and that by backing the Lausanne treaty, the States would confer the most practical benefits. May Brown, the ever efficient alternate, proved her ability by furnishing material for the clever, forceful rebuttal of the Centralites. By a two to one decision of the judges, first honors went to Northeast, the champions for two consecutive years. The proof put forth by the Northeasters was based chiefly on the fact that abandonment of neutrality would involve the United States in European wars.

In the Central auditorium, the Central negative team, consisting of Lea Deleve, captain, Edith Johnson, Thelma Smith and Miriam Grant, alternate, waged one of the strongest debates in the history of the school, against the Manual affirmative, but due to a quibbling by the affirmative over an unimportant technicality, the decision was two to one in favor of Manual.

Thelma Smith opened the debate for the negative by quietly convincing the judges that the present policy was meeting our needs in a most satisfactory manner. As second speaker, Edith Johnson proved with a firm but pleasing delivery that a change in policy would be impractical because of the extreme complication of the issues and the lack of cooperation and understanding between the United States and Europe. In Kathleen Carey and Edith Johnson, both Juniors, Central will find excellent veterans for next year's clash. Lea Deleve closed the argument for the negative, in a true oratorical manner that a change in policy would prove disastrous because it would involve international complications, long and costly wars, and destroy our prestige. Miss Deleve is a veteran of last years' team and proved an invaluable member to the team of 1923. Miriam Grant, a member of the 1922 squad showed her exceptional ability in handling rebuttal, and was perhaps responsible for the outstanding refutation of the Central speakers.

Although neither debate was won by Central, the Blue and White may be rightfully proud of the splendid showing made by the girls' teams. The real courteous, keen and enthusiastic Central spirit was clearly demonstrated in both debates, and with two veterans back next year, hopes for a Central championship may again be raised. Miss Katherine Morgan served as a willing and inspiring coach at all times, while Miss Hazel K. Harrison made an able assistant. It is hoped that more girls will turn out for debate next year, and bring to the class and to the school the success which they really deserve.

THE ARTS
ALMA DOUGHTY

"A Tailor-Made Man"

Once more into the annals of the history of the many annual play successes, sponsored by Central's dramatic department, there is added one other—the culmination, as it were of all former Central stage successes. On the evening of February 8, 9 and 10, capacity audiences viewed Central's twenty-ninth annual presentation, "A Tailor-Made Man," a three act comedy-drama by Harry James Smith. With an excellent cast, coached daily for two months by Miss Effie Epton, head of the Central dramatics department, the performance came as an inevitable success.

'Does environment make or mar one's social success?" is the problem of "A Tailor-Made Man." The soul of John Paul Bart, a tailor's man is stifled by the environment of the tailor shop, where the only spot of beauty comes from Tanya, the tailor's daughter. When Bart is given an evening suit, which is to be pressed, Bart takes his opportunity, dresses in the borrowed suit, and attends a ball, given by the fashionable Stanlaws, in honor of Abraham Nathan, shipping magnate. Here he talks and looks the part of such a clever business man that Nathan takes him in his employ at an enormous salary. After Dr. Gustavus Sonntag, narrow, egotistical and radical suitor of Tanya, denounces Bart as a mere tailor's man, the latter, thinking himself disgraced, returns to the tailor shop—and to Tanya. But after all, environment and social success are only what one makes of them, so Nathan tells John Paul, and the latter is taken back into the shipping magnates' office; this time, however, Tanya goes with him as his fiance.

On February 8, Harold Passman and Doris Gwynne played the parts of the two leads—John Paul Bart and Tanya, the tailor's daughter. The leads on February 9 were enacted by Grace Saltmarsh and Russell Knight. After due deliberation on the part of W. D. Hancock, secretary of the Kansas City Theatre Association and judge of the play, Doris Gwynne and Harold Passman were selected to play leads the third night, February 10. Both sets of leads played in a truly professional manner. Their ability for playing heavy emotional acting was clearly demonstrated in the third act where Tanya warns John Paul of his imminent danger from Mr. Sonntag.

One of the most outstanding roles in "A Tailor-Made Man" was taken by Helen Smith, in the part of Mrs. Kittie Dupay, the flirtarious widow, whose demure and innocent daughter, Bessie, was always the signal for wide applause. The part of Bessie was taken by Viola Smith. Harry Joslin in the character role of Dr. Gustavus Sonntag, took the part with probably more earnestness than any actor in the play. His clever makeup was exceptionally merited.

Elizabeth Hill and Norman Foltz, as the exclusive Stanlaws gave an understanding interpretation of the perfect host and hostess Their attractive and alluring daughter, Corrine, was excellently portrayed by Gladys Siemon. In the role of Nathan, the shipping magnate, George Eastburn held the sympathy of the audience throughout the play. Earnest Craft, as Huber, could not have been improved as the shrewd, Jewish tailor.

Norma Purvis made a clever and ever-efficient stenographer, while Douglas Stanley was loved by the entire audience as the mischievous but lazy tailor's boy, Peter. Louise McCarty and Marion Planck made interesting characters out of Mr. and Mrs. Fitzmorris, guests at the Stanlaw reception.

Robert Richardson played well as Mr. Roland, the debonnair, breezy newspaper reporter. Heinrich Bauer played the part of the English valet, Pomeroy, in a clever manner. Gayle Forcade and Lester Cochran doubled in the role of the Englishman, Mr. Jellicott, from whom Bart obtained the evening clothes. Both Forcade and Cochran acted the pure English dude, the stellar comedy role of the production. Minor characters enacted by Harvey Clark, Sam Jones, and Robert Reich as labor delegates; Neil Lynn, Charles Hicks, Carl Bacchus, Rolla French, Francis Key, Helen Reed, Lillian Howard, Miriam Willits, Emma Kane and Sidney Bacon, as guests at the Stanlaw reception; Lewis Manley, as Wheating, the butler; and Monroe Innes as Bobby Westlake, the ladies' man, added much to the play's success.

A half-realistic, half-impressionistic setting was introduced in the offering. The beautiful Watteau scenery, so much admired by the audience was kindly furnished by the Central Art department.

Future plays at Central may come and go; they may be highly successful; but yet, in the minds of those who saw the play, none can surpass the 1923 presentation of "A Tailor-Made Man."

Come Out of the Kitchen

On the evenings of May 4 and 5, members of the Central expression department under the supervision of Anna McCoy Francis presented Come Out of the Kitchen, a three act comedy by Augustus Thomas. Coming after a series of successful plays, given this year in Central, Come Out of the Kitchen, as a pleasing climax, literally "left a good taste in our mouth" for clever, well acted plays.

Come Out of the Kitchen is a straight comedy, depicting the trials of a young and aristocratic family, the Daingerfields of Virginia, who through financial difficulties are compelled to sell their mansion to Burton Crane, a progressive, wealthy Northerner. The agreement of sale stipulated that a staff of white servants replace the negro domestics. Unable to meet the requirement and wishing to complete the sale, the Daingerfields decide to become servants in their own home. With the arrival of the handsome Northerner, amusing complications arise, later developing into a happy ending.

Ivar Heinlein played the part of Burton Crane in a manner which made many feminine hearts in the audience flutter. On May 4, Evelyn Knapp took the feminine lead, that of Olivia Daingerfield, the beautiful and winsome cook, while on May 5, Louise McDavitt played the part in a pleasing manner.

As Elizabeth Daingerfield, the beautiful sister of Olivia, Erma Endicott and Emily Cox lent their own charming personality. The stately Mrs. Falkener was well played by Erna Williams and Alice Anderson, who show real dramatic ability. The part of Cora Falkener, the demure daughter, was taken by Eleanor Gerard and Erma Endicott in a realistic manner.

Sarah Weeks and Ellen Bowers as Mandy, the jolly negro cook, did much for the success of the play. The part of Charles Daingerfield, another of the family and the butler, was well taken by Gordon Hooper and Ellsworth Burris. A better Randolph Weeks could not have been depicted than was shown by Edward Hill McBee and Robert Shepp.

Minor parts were well taken by Barton Hooper as Paul Daingerfield; Bert Morris as Solon Tucker, one of the most clever characters in the play; and Archibald Kelley as Thomas Lefferts.

A real four course dinner featured in the third act, to the enjoyment of the cast. The elaborate antique furniture in the first act was loaned by Mr. R. M. Scroggs who had brought it from Virginia.

An excellent student staff helped bring the play to success. Kathleen Scroggs taking charge of properties, Bill Hurt and John Reagan the make-up, and Jack Stukenberg as stage manager. Miss Delle Miller as art adviser and J. E. Lukens as business manager made up the faculty staff.

The Dragon

"And out of the North, there comes a huge green, scaly dragon—to devour the beautiful, Princess Nuala." What man, woman or child has not thrilled at these words, when reading some Irish folk tale?

Amid a weird, impressionistic atmosphere, beautiful and elaborate costumes, and strange and mystic lighting effects, the Central expression department under the direction of Miss Virginia Robertson presented "The Dragon" by Lady Gregory in the Central auditorium on the evenings of April 6 and 7.

The Princess Nuala is to be devoured by a green dragon within a year unless she should marry, for a dragon would never swallow a wedding ring, so legend runs. The princess loves the palace cook, in reality the disguised King of Sorcia. The Prince of the Marshes and Taig, the villain, are in love with Nuala. As the dragon approaches, the three suitors go forth to kill the monster. The climax is highly unique as the Princess Nuala dies, and is brought back to life by the love of the Sorcian King, who had subdued the dragon.

April 6, Mona Muncey and Ralph Mohri played the leads, while on April 7, Lorene Mitchell and Lester Cochran took the stellar roles. Heinrich Bauer made a clever King, father of Nuala. Probably the most dramatic acting in the play was by Helen Powell and Elizabeth Stewart as the Queen, step-mother of the princess and tyrant wife of the King. Frank Sullivan as the Dall Glic of the court and Stanley Johnson as the timid Prince of the Marshes did outstanding work. Mary Ellen Kohler and Marene Spayde, the old maid aunts, kept the audience in convulsions. Mary Louise Blocher and Freda Lipsitz made a lovable Irish Nurse for the Princess. Minor parts were well taken by Paul Parker, Frances Criley, Evelyn Anderson, Dorothy Evans, Bertha Kenser, Elmer Rush, Norman King, Hale Sparks, Harold Gold, Dana Peters, and James Shirk.

Scenery, including the dragon, was furnished by the Central Art department. It is hoped Miss Robertson will turn out a play for 1924 as enthusiastically received as "The Dragon" of 1923.

McBee, Wells, Stukenberg, Stripp, Heinlein

Central Stage Crew

Probably one of the most important and responsible student positions in Central which requires the most work and which receives the least public recognition is that of stage manager with the various associates. In order to make an efficient stage crew, one must be agile, keen-minded, sure of hand and gifted with the ability for making stage appraisals rapidly.

The duties of the stage crew consist in arranging the stage for all Central plays, in shifting the scenes between acts and in operating the lighting effects. Before a play is presented, the stage manager must study the manuscript in order to arrange the necessary articles. Furniture must be procured and matched with the curtains and lights. After the properties are complete, lighting effects must be connected. In fact, many hours are spent in hard though interesting work for the crew.

For the school year of 1922-23, Jack Stukenberg, a Junior, served as an efficient manager for his five associates. Because of his keen ability for grasping situations promptly, Stukenberg proved invaluable in the school, class and society plays which were presented this year. In Wallace Janes, Stukenberg found an able assistant manager, who though illness kept him from work for several weeks, made up the lost time by working extraordinarily hard while in school.

Central was extremely fortunate in having Rex Ivar Heinlein for stage electrician this year. Heinlein's knowledge of lighting effects made him unusually valuable to the crew. Douglas Stripp, although "the kid" of the crew, showed his ability as a member of the force in many ways and was always willing to aid. Edward Hill McBee and Arthur Ennis completed the crew, and were extremely helpful with their clever suggestions and efficient manipulation of stage furniture.

Central should be indeed proud of the commendable showing made by one of the most competent agencies known in the glorious history of Central high school's successful stage crews.

Central Art Department

Art is the fundamental basis of culture. While fine arts are taught in the art department of Central, the real purpose for art instruction is to arouse in the students, the appreciation for art in the things of everyday life, and a taste for all that is fine and good. Because of this, it is not surprising that the art classes are increasing each year in size and interest.

A five year course in art is offered at Central of which three years are spent in the Senior high school. Lettering, design, cartooning and poster work are much stressed and popular features of the department. Posters for the various school activities are designed and painted here. Throughout the school year, many of these posters appear in the weekly Luminary. Pupils who are outstanding in this type of work are Louis Lispi, Frank Burgard and Fred Spencer of the Senior high and Gale Stockwell from the Junior high. Two poster contests have been held this year. Barton Harper, a first year student won first place in the Inter-city high school contest on Elijah posters. Richard Lipsitz and Horace Conway placed second and third respectively, while ten of the one dollar prizes went to Central students. Winners of one dollar prizes are: Virginia Harris, Dorothy Donville, Fred Spencer, Sarah Mock, Dorthea White, Valerie Swenson, Laura Jane Everhardt, Katheryn Danelski, Evelyn Davis and Louise Kearney. In the Safety First contest, Sidney Bacon received third place while Laura Jane Everhardt received fifth place.

The second year classes of Miss Coah Henry specialize in costume designing and advanced art work. Elaborate costumes, used in amateur theatrical productions in Central have been entirely designed by this department. Designs of proper clothing for the high school girl are also studied. Miss Henry teaches commercial art as an additional subject.

Third year art students study interior decorations and design from Miss Delle Miller. These classes make excursions to different buildings to study fine interiors. Each pupil keeps a portfolio in which drawings and clippings concerning the different period styles are studied. This class also specializes in scene designing and painting together with the study of stage craft. Third year students made the Watteau tapestry used in "A Tailor-Made Man," the fireplace in the production of "Come Out of the Kitchen" and all the scenes for the play, "The Dragon." In the interior decoration classes of Miss Miller, Florence Warner, Homer Strickler and Janice Long do outstanding work.

Crafts, Centralian designing and methods in reproduction are studied the fourth year. This includes the making of the lamp shades and shields which caused so much attraction at an exhibit made in Central's front halls last spring. The exhibition is an annual affair of the art department. All cuts for the Centralian have been provided in the art department as well as the colored inserts. During the Christmas vacation, many attractive cards were made by the fourth year students. The proceeds were used to further art work. In this department, Sarah Jenkins, Leona Fuhrman and Dolores Hood are excellent students.

In Miss Delle Miller and Miss Coah Henry, the Central art department finds exceptional instructors. Their love and knowledge of art are sources of inspiration to the aspiring art student.

To the person who is contemplating a course in art, a wealth of both enjoyment and useful information will come if he but follow that path, the first steps of which may be taken in Central's own department.

Football Review

1922, and Central is Kansas City's interscholastic champion for the third successive year. Six victories, one tie and one defeat is the season's record.

With a nucleus of five letter men, Captain Eastburn, Jenkins, Bacchus, Noel and Burton, to build around, Coach Menze practically made another winning team.

The gridiron call was issued the last week of August, and from then until the end of the season the coach worked and drilled his charges every day.

The pre-season games gave "dopesters" a chance to see the Central material. The first game with Central of St. Joseph resulted in a tie, after a hard-fought contest on a muddy field. Two touchdowns were scored by each team, Jenkins kicking goal twice for Central. The next game was an easy win over William Chrisman High, 19 to 0.

In the opening interscholastic game of the season, Westport met defeat at the hands of Central, 14 to 6. Westport scored in the opening quarter, but Central came back in the third quarter and scored on a fumble recovered by Bacchus. The game was cinched in the last quarter when Jenkins broke thru for a 45-yard run. He also kicked both goals.

Manual felt the strong Central offense, 41 to 0 on the 21st of October. Six touchdowns were scored. Captain Eastburn scored twice on end runs, after receiving forward passes, and Jenkins scored twice on line plays. Heidelberger made his touchdown after a broken field run of 25 yards, while Bacchus scored the other on a 20-yard run. Jenkins kicked five or six goals.

Northeast went down under the same score as the Manual aggregation. Central won on straight football, throwing the purple and white eleven against its goal line time after time. Eastburn scored in the first and second quarters, Patten in the third quarter and Bacchus, Jenkins and Eastburn in the last quarter. Jenkins kicked six perfect goals, but the fifth was not counted because a Central man fouled.

Then came the second round, with the fourth game that will live in the minds of Centralites forever. Westport 7, Central 0. With Captain Eastburn lying in bed with a broken blood vessel, the boys went on the field determined to fight to the last minute. And they did. Westport's men said that last minute was the longest minute they ever played in their lives.

In the fifth interscholastic game, Central set a new scoring record when Manual was taken to a practice score of 53 to 0. The game was more or less a mud skirmish with Central holding the reins. Jenkins scored five touchdowns; Piehler, Bacchus and Byars one each. Of the eight touchdowns, Jenkins kicked five goals.

The previous week Northeast won from Westport 6 to 0, thus putting Central in the lead. The last game (November 18) decided the pennant when Northeast went down before Central, 19 to 6, before a record crowd of 10,000 people.

With Eastburn back, the team was fighting harder than ever. In the second quarter Eastburn carried the ball over, and again in the last quarter. Northeast rallied in the third quarter and scored a touchdown, but not until they had been held five times for three yards. Jenkins scored the other touchdown and missed two out of three chances for a drop-kick after touchdowns.

Central has now won the Jack Hoxie Haas cup permanently. She has won the Yale and Harvard cup for two years, and if she wins next year these two cups will also become permanent possessions. The pennant will have an addition of another year with '22 upon it.

Central was indeed fortunate in having placed Captain George Eastburn, Robert Jenkins, David Heidelberger, John Goetz and Carl Bacchus on the All-Star team. Eastburn was the unanimous choice to head the All-Stars.

Central's second team did not win the championship among the reserves; however, it deserves a great deal of credit. Several of the second team men are good material for next year's team, and have made good knockabouts for the first string men this year.

With a high standard to uphold and with 5 letter men to return we wish Coach Louis Menze, that successful mentor of ours, whom we have grown to love, because he has given the best in him to Central, and Captain-elect Burton, a glorious and over-whelming victory for next year. May the standard bearers of the Blue and White never go down to defeat.

Basketball Review

Six victories, four defeats and a tie for second place in the city interscholastic race. Three defeats by a loss of only two points. That is the record of Central's basketball team of 1923.

November 27 started intensive basketball training with five letter men to return (Captain Bacchus, Jenkins, Morris, Patten and Burton). For three weeks Coach Menze drilled his squad in a special sixth hour class. December 22, Central won its first pre-season game, 21 to 16, against Central of St. Joseph. Taking on the alumni proved too hard a task, on December 29. The active team took the lower end of a 35 to 16 count.

In the second out of town game, Central failed to get started in the opening period and lost in a play off, 31 to 29 against Sedalia.

Then came the second victory. In the opening interscholastic game of the season Central ran away from Manual, 31 to 14. Captain Bacchus and Morris were the high point men of the game with Patten and Burton sharing honors at the guard positions.

Convention Hall was unavailable the next week so Warrensburg Training School came, saw and was defeated. Central led the entire game with 49 points against the opponents' 19. Captain Bacchus was out of the game with diphtheria and Burton was unable to play because of a weak ankle.

Captain Bacchus was still unable to play the next week and Central lost to Northeast, 12 to 17. Burton was shifted to the pivot position, but was not accustomed to this position to make a real showing.

Central lost a bitter fight to Westport, February 1, by 1 point. Central led at the halfway mark 14 to 9. Westport overtook the lead in the last quarter and Central went down under a 26 to 27 score.

The last out of town game was easily won from Wentworth at Lexington, 17 to 13. Bacchus did not make the trip but Burton showed up admirably at the center position.

The second round of the city series began February 16, with a second trouncing of Manual. This time with a score of 35 to 16. Bacchus was able to play a few minutes in this game at the forward position. Burton now held down the pivot position and improved more and more in each game. Morris was Central's best bet at forward and with his running mate, Jenkins, was able to cop many a goal. Patten was making good at guard with Davidson, the only new letter man this year, and with the team getting into a real stride we entered the last two games with high hopes.

The last Central-Northeast game proved to be a real thriller. This game was the hardest fought victory of the season. At the end of the half Northeast was leading 11 to 4. Coach Menze must have given the team some mighty tall talking because at the start of the third quarter Central had taken on new life.

A shot by one team was followed by a shot from another team. The Blue and White cheerleaders would lead the crowd, then the Purple and White cheerleaders would lead. Ten thousand husky voices were urging the two teams to victory. The score at the end of the game was tied. 17 to 17. Tom Devona was substituted for Patten and told to get in and shoot. He did. In the extra five minutes, Tommy scored two goals and Morris putting the final one in a second before the game ended. Davidson and Burton held down the Northeast scores to one goal. Northeast won the first game by 5 points. This was our victory by 6 points.

In the last game of the season the Blue and White warriors met defeat by two lonely points but not till they had shown the Westport players a real game. It was strength and wit matched against strength and wit. The crowd will remember the game as long as it lives. At the end of the half: Westport 14, Central 11. At the end of the regular playing time: Westport 20, Central 20. At the end of the first play-off: Westport 24, Central 24. At the end of the game: Westport 28, Central 26.

The second team won all but one game. One outside game was played with Central taking the long end of a 19 to 12 score over the William Chrisman reserves. Ten men made letters on the second team that won 4 of its 5 league games. Five games were played against the other highs with Central copping the second team championship.

Captain-elect Patten and Burton are the only letter men to return next season. With these two players and ten second team men to count upon the next season ought to bring better results. Coach Louis Menze is to be congratulated on his handling of the team and it is the best wish and hope of all Centralites that he and Captain Patten may have a glorious and highly honored season in 1924. Senior Track

Eight letter men returned to Coach Menze at the start of the track practice: Captain Piehler, Key, McGinnis, Bacchus, Morris, Jenkins, Jacobs, and Tiffany. All seniors. The first six of those named have remade their letters this season, together with the following men: Davidson, '23; W. Noel, '23; Knight, '23; Manley, '23; Thomason, '24; Fowler, '24; Krug, '25; Byars, '25.

Piehler made a real track captain for the team of 1923. The hardest worker on the team, always cooperating with Coach Menze in an endeavor to turn out athletes of the highest type for Central. Although they failed to produce a championship team they left their lasting impression on the future track teams of Central.

Although Central has a track team that has failed to get "tuned in" on a long list of victories this year, she can at least be proud of her cinder men who have given their best for the school. Central placed second in the K. C. A. C. meet with 12 points. Northeast won 4 out of 5 firsts and a total of 25 points.

Key placed second to Captain Lancaster in the 440 yard dash and Manley won a third in the 880 yard run. Patterson placed fourth in the 440. Central's A and B relay won a second with these men, Piehler, Jacobs, Poe, and Blocker. One of the men on the C and D relay was tripped and the quartet composed of Geher, Orr, Wattling, and McGinnis failed to score.

Of the five events in the Missouri-Kansas dual meet Central placed in three. Piehler placed second in the 50, Key again placing second in the 440. The C and D relay team (Risser, Orr, Wattling, and McGinnis) acquiring a third.

Central scored but 5 points in the second annual Missouri Valley Conference meet by Piehler getting a third in the 50 and Key a third in the 440. The other point was scored by the A and B relay team (Poe, Jacobs, McGinnis, and Piehler) which placed third.

Central showed her "stuff" in the first outdoor meet of the year by upsetting the dope and losing to Northeast in a dual meet by a margin of 1 2/3 points. Of the 13 events Northeast won eight firsts and Central five. The meet was not decided until the final race. Northeast won this half mile relay, but with a margin of only ten yards.

The annual interclass meet was won by the Seniors with 111 points. Captain Piehler of the Seniors was high point man of Class A with 11¼ points. McGinnis was easy high point man of Class B with 16¼ points. Robert Byars captained the Sophomores to second place whose team scored 79½ points. The Juniors led by Lawrence Thomason scored 39½ points. Two interclass records were broken when McGinnis cleared the 100 yard low sticks in 12 3/5 seconds and Key winning the 440 in 55 seconds.

By scoring third in the mile relay, Central tied for fourth place in the University of Kansas relays at Lawrence. The mile relay composed of Jacobs, Patterson, Krug, and Key was nosed out of first place by Cedar Rapids team by a mere 1 3/5 seconds. The other relay team, Goetz, Fields, Hanna and Noel placed fifth in its event, the two mile relay.

Last year Coach Menze took 12 men to Lexington and lost to Wentworth by two points. This year, nineteen men journeyed to the Military Academy and won by a margin of nearly 20 points. McGinnis broke the high jump record by clearing the bar at 5 11¼ inches, and Bacchus throwing the discus 112 ft. 3 inches. Bert Morris formerly held the record at 5 feet 11 inches. The discus record was formerly held by Reber at 110 ft. 8 inches. In the meet Central won all six field events, and two of the seven track events.

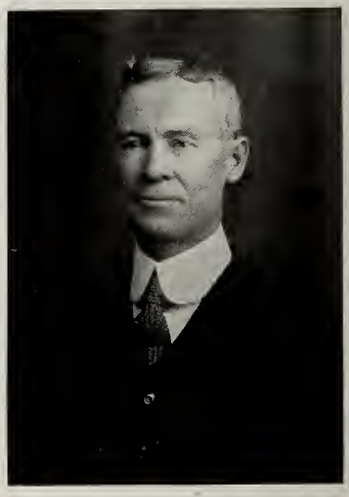
Central took Westport to a 60 to 35 trouncing in a Class B meet. Weinberg, Hey, Blauw, Harlan, Risser, Riley, Shepp won their Class B letters in this meet.

Last year Central won the Missouri State meet for the second successive year, the Kansas Invitation meet, and the Quadrangular for the third successive year. She has a fighting chance to repeat in the State meet at Columbia again this year and if every man is in top notch form Central may be able to win.

At a joint meeting of the Kansas City high school principals and coaches a new rule was made combining C and D classes to form class A in the Quadrangular meet. Central is strong in class B and the chances are that Central may again win this year's Quadrangular.

COACH LOUIS EDMOND MENZE

A coach and a friend, adored by the athletes, a man whom the school is proud of. Graduated from Central High School, Kansas City, Missouri, in 1913, and from Warrensburg State Teachers' College in 1917, coming to Central in the fall of 1919.



MR. T. E. TALMADGE

Mr. T. E. Talmadge came to Central from Spalding's Business College in 1909. He has now been head of the Central Commercial department for 14 years. For the last seven years he has been the manager of Central's athletics. Besides having charge of the Central funds he is always found at the athletic contests boosting the teams as a real Centralite.

Review of Girls' Athletics

MISS BAHE

Tennis starts the year's round of athletics and also closes it. The annual Interscholastic Tournament staged at the Rockhill Tennis Club courts late in September brought out a good number of Centralites. Although unlucky, Central put up a good fight with the following teams: first singles, Helen Virginia Small; first doubles, Marjory Hamer and Eleanor Eull; second singles, Lorraine Blasbalg; second doubles, Rosamond Barnett and Lucy Drummond; Martha Smart represented in the mixed doubles. In the first round Central's first and second singles teams emerged victorious. The second round, or semi-finals, eliminated Central's first singles and mixed doubles. In the third round, or finals, Central's second singles were defeated by Westport in a hard fought, three-set match.

Volley Ball, as a minor interclass sport, was played for the first time late in October. The Seniors won the three round tournament as follows: Sophomores vs. Juniors, 28-8; Seniors vs. Sophomores, 18-14; Seniors vs. Juniors, 21-18. The manager was Edna Halpin.

Hockey, one of the major sports, furnished many exciting games accompanied by mid-December weather. By the end of the first week in December the teams had been picked and individual team practice started under the respective captains: Helen Virginia Small, Senior; Alvira Arcella, Junior; Georgia Willey, Sophomore; and Marna Burns, Freshman. The games were played in the afternoon on the athletic field.

First was the Senior-Sophomore game, won by the Seniors in a closely contested match; score, Seniors 2, Sophomores 1. The following day the Sophomores and Juniors battled through to a 1 to 3 score in favor of the Juniors. Both games were refereed by Miss Beth Doak, Physical Director at the Kensington School. On the following afternoon the Seniors, decked in blue, and the Juniors in red, sallied forth to vie for the championship. The sidelines were crowded with fellow classmates and members of the Westport's girls' hockey teams. The score does not bespeak the hard-fought game that followed, resulting in a 6 to 2 victory for the Seniors (incidentally the highest score on record at Central). At the feast which followed a silver loving cup was presented by Miss Bahe as a surprise, and received by the Senior captain. The Hockey manager, Angelina Arcella, and the assistant manager, Lorraine Blasbalg, did much in making the Hockey season a success.

Basketball started with the vim and spirit that carried the season of this major sport through its most extensive and successful year. Early in March the squads from each of the senior high classes were picked by the coach, Miss Bahe, and then subdivided into first and second teams. The Freshman squad was picked and coached by Miss Whalen. A pre-season game between the Seniors of '23 and Seniors '22 resulted in a victory for those of '23. The score was 25 to 17. Each team elected their respective captains and cheer leaders. The captains were as follows: Seniors, Thelma Smith; Juniors, Mary Henschel; Sophomores, Madge Morgan; Freshman, Catherine Cottingham. Miss Alice L. Scott was the referee. A hot contest resulted in a Senior-Junior tie for the cup.

March 15	Sophomores vs. Juniors	15 to 19
	Seniors vs. Freshmen	12 to 14
March 19	Seniors vs. Sophomores	17 to 7
	Juniors vs. Freshmen	15 to 19
March 26	Sophomores vs. Freshmen	12 to 20
	Seniors vs. Juniors	29 to 10
March 29	Seniors vs. Freshmen	9 to 5
	Juniors vs. Sophomores	24 to 15
April 2	Seniors vs. Sophomores	16 to 7
	Juniors vs. Freshmen	8 to 12
April 5	Seniors vs. Juniors	20 to 21
April 10	Sophomores vs. Freshmen	12 to 10

The second team championship went to the Freshmen, who won all three of the rounds. The untiring work of Mary Eleanor Filkin, manager, was a factor in the success of the season.

Swimming met with great success and commanded even more notice than in previous years. A new phase was introduced by the opening of a Life Saving class in November. In February twelve girls received their Junior Life Saving badges. The annual swimming meet was unique in that the Sophomores won. Zelpha DeWitt, Sophomore, won first place; Mary Henschel, Junior, and manager, a very close second; Faye Lowe, Sophomore, third. Miss Alice Brownell, head of the swimming at Wisconsin University, was one of the judges.

The fifth annual GYM REVIEW of the Senior high school was held on April the twenty-first. The program containing samples of the year's gymnasium and dancing activities was under the direction of Miss Bahe, assisted by Mrs. Alice Kirk Gordon, musical director. Mr. Dubach presented the honors, numerals, letters, and seals, followed by the presentation of the trophy cups.

The following received the highest athletic honor, the felt seal pillow top: Angelina Arcella, Lorraine Blasbalg, Mary Eleanor Filkin, Edna Halpin. Alice Riley, Helen Virginia Small, Thelma Smith, and Martha Smart.

The Junior High School held its second annual Gym Review on April the twentieth, under the direction of Miss Whalen, Miss Root, and Mrs. Gordon. The program included a review of the work done during the year and the presentation of letters and chevrons by Mr. King.

Baseball goes hand in hand with tennis in closing the athletic school year. The Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores competed for championship in a three round tournament.

The success of the girls' athletics at Central lies in the unfailing work of Miss Bahe, Miss Whalen, and Miss Root, assisted by Mrs. Gordon.

Here's to girls' athletics of 1923,
May 1924 e'en more successful be.

RENNE

The Medical Profession and the Modern Housewife Lay Down These Requirements for Safe Milk:

PURITY . . . . . to be convinced by frequent and numerous tests by chemists and bacteriologists as to the actual contents.

FRESHNESS . . . for only a few hours (not days) to elapse between the production and delivery to the consumer.

RICHNESS . . . . that a deep, rich cream line is observed.

CLEANLINESS . for a milk free from sediment and foreign odors—a wholesome, delicious flavor at all times.

You will find all these four qualities in Renne's "White List" Raw Milk. That is why Central's lunch room serves it and cooks with it.

R. O. T. C.

With the passing of each year of school activity, the public recognition of the real worth of military training in the high schools is being more clearly demonstrated. The school year of 1922-1923 has undoubtedly been one of the most prosperous and beneficial in the history of Central R. O. T. C.

Probably an added factor in the promotion of interest in the training corps of Central this year has been due to the selection of a cadet sponsor, who represents the girls of the school at all public activities of the R. O. T. C. From a list of fifteen girls, interested in military training, Miss Doris Gwynne was chosen as sponsor.

With an excellent staff of battalion officers, capable instructors and an enthusiastic corps, the accomplishments of the R. O. T. C. for 1923 are not surprising. In September, Alfred B. Gangwer was appointed major. He efficiently served his office until the early part of the spring when Rex Ivar Heinlein was promoted to the majority. Major Heinlein was later promoted to lieutenant colonel. The Central R. O. T. C. is composed of two companies, A and B, each company consisting of three platoons. Alonzo Oldham served the R. O. T. C. as battalion Adjutant while Lieutenant Trusten Peery was detailed as Range Officer. Officers who were outstanding in military work this year are Lieutenant Homer Maxwell, Lieutenant Fred Burroughs, Lieutenant Edward Hill McBee, and Captain Kenneth MacKenzie. Sergeant William Mehring made an able instructor while Captain Earl N. Hackney was in charge of the entire Central battalion.

First class equipments have done much to aid in Central's military success. Excellent laboratories including sand tables for battle instruction have been provided. One of the finest rifle ranges in the United States was added to the school property. It enables twenty men to fire at one time. A championship rifle team of which Paul Martinson is an outstanding member has been organized this year. Five members of the Central squad were placed on the City rifle team. The Central rifle team won the interscholastic rifle match against the other schools in the early fall.

The two featured activities of the R. O. T. C. this year have been the military circus and indoor meet of April 20 and the outdoor field meet of May 16. At the indoor circus, Company B of Central received first honors.

As the boy of high school age sees the opportunity of obtaining a perfect physique, an alert mind, an erect figure and a year of both entertaining and useful work thru military drill, R. O. T. C. in the future is predicted to be the most popular advantage of Central high school.

Central-Junior High School

When the Juniors returned to school last September and peered into the old room adjoining the Senior High School office to catch a glimpse of a familiar face, they discovered that during the summer Mr. King had moved his office and all its furnishings to room 201. This was a pleasant surprise since the change involved convenience as well as relief to both schools. Since that time the new office has been growing upon its frequenters both in appearance and importance and has been the recipient of many useful articles made by the industrial departments of the school. A trophy case, built by Mr. Harris, is to be the display room for the cups won by Central Junior in its athletic events. It now contains the K. U. cup won at the Invitation Meet, spring '22; the Lowe and Campbell Trophy for the basketball championship, spring '22; and the Schmelzer cup won at the Quadrangular Meet, spring '22. Other articles of furniture made by the industrial departments, a key case, a clock, and a letter box, are most useful and ornamental additions to the office. Last, but not least, a Multiplex display chart with its removable leaves that may be used in any room for illustrative purposes, is an attractive feature of the new office furnishings.

Of especial note this year is the formation of a Junior Citizens League in Miss Westerfield's five civics classes. One hundred fifty girls and boys are now members. Representatives from this league are sent to the regular monthly meeting of the Citizens League and the Central Junior organization has been accepted as an associate member of the Citizens League of Kansas City. The organization has made a strenuous campaign against truancy and tardies.

Under the direction of Mr. James Bradley, Central Junior has been making a campaign for thrift among the pupils. As a result, the number of depositors in the city school bank system is greater in Central Junior High than in any other high school in the city, the deposits reaching $1,151.33 on April first, with 444 depositors.

The Commercial department is expressing its Big Aim, Co-operative Efficiency, in an organization called the Central Junior Commercial Club. This aim is realized through systematic reading, field trips, attendance at lectures, and doing work for other departments. Miss McNerney and Miss Abel, the sponsors, have brought before this organization some of the best public speakers of the city.

The week of November 11-15 was observed as Better Speech Week in all Central Junior English Classes. Posters, illustrating the need of better speech, were on display in the halls, and prizes were given for the posters which best displayed the Better Speech idea. The preparation of songs, poems, limericks and slogans, and class contests in reading and oral themes were special features of the week's work.

Central Junior's orchestra of 52 members, and choral club of 124 members, both directed by Miss Zimmerman have made for themselves very enviable records. Community singing has been introduced into the assemblies this year and no more attractive form of entertainment has ever been planned. The afternoon school has shown its appreciation of good music by the fact that it has 320 symphony concert subscribers—more than double the number of any other school in the city.

The Thanksgiving play was so successful an event in this year's history that it has been decided to make this an annual event. Miss Abney coached the plays, "The Teeth of the Gift Horse" and "The Dream Maker." The spring play, "Penrod," with Miss Trice as coach, was equally as successful as the Thanksgiving plays.

Central Junior has every reason to be proud of its athletics. For the first time in the history of the school, the Freshman girls basketball team defeated every class team in senior high. It is also a matter of great pride that the freshman boys won every event in the indoor track meet, spring '22.

To Miss Denny, of the afternoon study hall, is Central indebted for the words of its new Junior High School song:

Dear Central Junior High,
Our love and loyalty
We pledge again to you,
Allegiance we renew;
No dream-work weak and wrong
But team-work good and strong
We offer Central Junior High.

Chorus:
This is the slogan that we sing
A slogan pleasing to our King:
We'll hold aloft the fame
That wreathes her shining name,
We will be worthy, Junior High!

"Listening In"

"Listening In," a novelty program, arranged and directed by Miss Louise Abney, opened the school dramatic season on Saturday night, November 24, 1922.

An enthusiastic audience of approximately 1,300 "listened in." After two orchestra numbers it was announced "by radio" that C. J. H. S., Central Junior High School, was broadcasting its Thanksgiving Program. "The Dream Maker" a romantic fantasy, portraying the love affair of Pierrot, the dream-maker, and Pierette, was artistically presented; O. Henry's "Gift of the Magi" was read, several specialty numbers were beautifully given, and the concluding number of "Listening In" was the clever comedy, "The Teeth of the Gift Horse"—whereupon C. J. H. S. signed off, with some $300 in the treasury, and the enthusiastic applause of the "listeners in."

The Spring Play

The Central Junior High School Spring Play was given two nights, April 27th and 28th.

Both nights to crowded houses, a well trained cast presented the play "Penrod," adapted from Booth Tarkington's story which carries interest to children and to "grown-ups" alike.

The four acts take place in a small town, in June, the scenes being enacted in the Schofield's side yard. The plot centers about Penrod and his "gang" as they shadow his sister Margaret's suitor, Dade, whom Penrod has designated as a horse-thief.

Each member of the cast was well placed and showed careful preparation, the acting of Penrod and Sam being especially natural. The production was under the direction of Miss Ruth M. Trice, head of the Expression department of Central Junior High School.

Boys' Junior High School Club

Slogan: Be a Friend

The year 1923 can be remembered as one of the most successful years of the Boys' High School Club. While the average attendance may not have been as great as previous years, yet the boys made up for the lack in numbers by the earnestness and enthusiasm with which they entered into the club's activities.

It was an earnest bunch of fellows who buckled to their tasks when their chosen leader, Marshall North, moved from Kansas City. He was looked upon as a great leader and many of his friends knew he was fully capable of living up to their slogan "LET MARSHALL DO IT." It was difficult to find someone of ability in leadership equal to Marshall's, but his mantle fell upon the shoulders of Edward Kennedy and he wore it well.

It was the boys' privilege to hear an unusually good group of speakers during the year, but the programs and "extemp" debates planned by the boys themselves proved the most enjoyable.

Over $25.00 was subscribed to the Robinson fund of the High School Clubs of Kansas City. Mr. Morgan, the "Y" adviser, was instrumental in getting Mr. Beck for the general assembly of the school. He gave perhaps the most entertaining and instructive assembly of the year, and the Boys' Club feels very proud to stand for the principles he gave.

The football season of 1922 was not an ever victorious one by any means, yet it was a successful one in the fact that about thirty boys learned many good lessons in the fundamentals of the game and how to play the game hard and fight by the rules. The team won all the games which were played with teams of the same class, that is, other Junior High Teams, but lost to the Senior High Teams which were made up of boys much older and more experienced.

The fact that the boys were new, only two having held over from the previous year, Captain William Oldham and William Bartholmei, the boys deserve credit for doing so well. Captain Oldham proved himself to be a cool headed and efficient leader and at all times a hard fighter. This spirit spread to every member of the team which finished the season as a real fighting team.

JUNIOR HIGH BASKETBALL

Top Row: McGavern, Burton, Tipton, McFarland, Coach Craig.
Bottom Row: Severs, Bartholmei (Captain), Oldham, Lafferty.

Basketball

The Junior High basket ball season of 1923 produced little results in the way of victories but much in team spirit, team play and individual ability. The squad presented some fine material in Captain Bartholmei, Oldham, Lafferty, McFarland, Severs, and Burton; but the lack was the absence of accurate basket getting material. Nevertheless the team battled every team in every game the season through in true Central Spirit fashion and lost only because of missed basket shots.

Captain Wm. Bartholmei experienced a very creditable season of playing at forward although a guard position was more to his liking. His team play coupled with that of Wm. Oldham at guard was especially pleasing and their work and their fight deserved a better season.

Hayward Lafferty, the diminutive forward, teamed with the still more diminutive Orville Severs who topped off the season with splendid form. Starting as second team players they finally claimed their places on the first team and did splendid work against their larger adversaries.

Aaron Burton developed into a better player at center as the season progressed and became indispensable to his team while Vernon McFarland experienced a varying season, a flash in some games and slowed up in others, yet always trying his best.

JUNIOR HIGH TRACK TEAM

Top Row: Ford, O. Severs, McGavern, Connley, Ives, Tipton, Hamilton, Campbell, Arnold, Benson.
Second Row: Boston, Smith, Ehike, Jacobstein, McFarland, Cayton, Bielski, Brown, Fasset.
Third Row: Coach Craig, Ray, Evans, Miller, Hipp, Parker, Lafferty, Pittser, Sullivan.
Fourth Row: R. Severs, Bartholmei, Oldham, Whiteman, Perrin, Crosby.

Track

The 1923 track season, being only fairly begun at the time this goes to press, bids fair to produce another ever-victorious team.

The relay team, composed of Wm. Oldham, Gene Whiteman, Robert Severs and Wm. Bartholmei, romped home easy victors in the K. C. A, C. meet, while Bartholmei captured first place in the 50-yd. dash and Oldham fourth place. Of the Junior High events Central scored 11 points, Westport 8, Manual 1, Northeast 0.

The relay composed of Robert Severs, Gene Whiteman, Glenn Crosby and Wm. Oldham, repeated in the Missouri-Kansas meet and Oldham captured the 50-yd. dash.

Junior High results: Central 10, Manual 6, Westport 4, Northeast 0.

The Junior events also came Central's way in the Missouri Valley Inter-Collegiate meet. The same relay line-up capturing first place and Oldham repeating in the 50-yd. dash. The score: Central 10, Manual 6, Westport 5, Northeast 0.

The annual practice meet against a picked team of ward school stars resulted as expected in a lop-sided score 120 to 35. Bartholmei back in the running again capturing three firsts and running anchor on the 880 relay, while Lafferty captured two first and a third in the 110-lb. class.

April 28th, Central meets the Manual Freshmen in a dual meet. May 5th, Kansas City, Kansas, Junior high comes over for a dual meet and May 19th, the Junior High Quadrangular meet is scheduled for the Central field. May 26th, a Missouri-Kansas Junior Interscholastic meet will probably be held on the Central track, entertaining teams from Junior Highs in Missouri and Kansas.

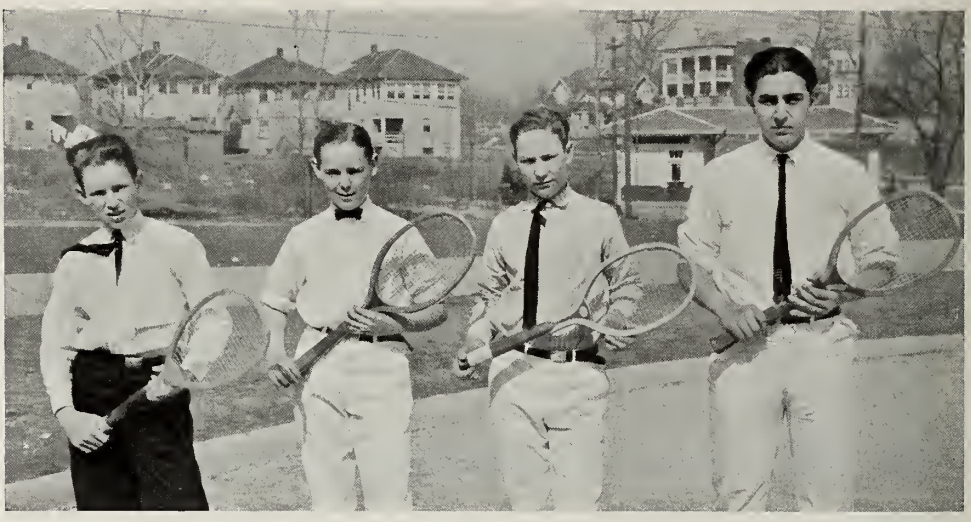
Second Row: E. Kelley, Fugate, Erickson, Hubbard, Sippel, Greenstein.
Third Row: Hottel, Moreland, Bennett.
Fourth Row: C. Smith, Heimlick, Dancy, Littrell, Baldwin, Howard.
Fifth Row: Miller, Stevenson, Dick, Miss Whalen, F. Smith, Thomas.



JUNIOR TENNIS TEAM
E. Kennedy, C. Ladd, M. Crone, B. Carta.

JUNIOR HIGH GIRLS' HOCKEY
Buchanan, Wilson, Halstead, Stevenson, Cottingham, Hickman, Coyne, Miss Whalen, Hubbard, Moeller, Burna (Captain), Ford, Lambert, Pittel, Quinn.

Junior Tennis

The Tennis Season of 1922 was the first official one. The four High Schools have a Junior High League that functions as the other sports, and is held to be of equal importance. Tennis is very well suited to pupils of Junior High age. It is a great aid in developing strong and healthy bodies as well as good habits of sportsmanship.

It is the hope and desire of the League to interest a larger number in the near future.

The following boys won their way to the finals in the inter-school tournament, hence, winning the honor of representing Central in the Junior High League race: Tiffany, Kennedy, Crone, Ladd, and Carta. The boys put up a good fight, but lost to larger and more experienced players. Westport won every match and the championship.

The big thing was not the victory or the defeat but the sport, the joy, and fun of the game, and the fact that the boys even in defeat played well, were square, and "good sports."

Junior Track Events

Following are the track men and the events in which they will compete:

Mar. 3—Central cagers lose to Westport, the League champions, 28 to 26. With Northeast, we are tied in second place.

Mar. 5—The Websters attempt to catch the Freshmen "In the Net," by presenting the Wilde play of that name. Modest Aristonians charm the audience with their "Modes and Manners."

Mar. 6—Like Diogenes of old, the girls of the Freshman Y. W. C. A. carry little candles around, endeavoring to find new members for club.

Mar. 8—School is once more normal. Principal Dubach says "No place like home," as he returns from a principals' convention in Cleveland, Ohio.

Mar. 9—Our tracksters say "Start at the bottom of the ladder and go up." We land fourth place in the Missouri Kansas Indoor meet.

Mar. 10—Strange sights are seen at the Athenaeum. Seventy of our faculty frolic there, while C. W. Guteknust gets acquainted, and B. F. Chambers is told that he is "no account."

Mar. 12—Oh, how these athletic men do blush! Joseph Patten demonstrates, when he is selected captain of the 1924 cager aggregation.

Mar. 13—The little Freshmen have big ideas, and in order to be kept safe from the bold, bad world, they organize a safety council for protection.

Mar. 14—The Girls' High School club members tell each other how to "Be a Beauty." Babe Smart stars in an extremely clean role.

Mar. 15—The R. O. T. C. is a circus, so they decide to have one. Little red tags start the ticket sale.

Mar. 16—In the first gas attack of the year, Central's masculine negative squadron puts the Manual enemy to route. The affirmative squadron uses the submarine defensive, and is defeated by Northeast, 2 to 1.

Mar. 17—The Shakespeares have big ideas as to membership, so they pledge Mary White Hall and Walter Hampden, Shakespearian actors.

Mar. 19—Tickets are placed on sale for the Centralian, while the boards are gaily decorated with red and green chalk.
Mar. 21—Our front corridor is turned into a jewelry department; Senior pins and rings are put up for inspection.
Mar. 22—We hear a musical assembly, conducted by Miss Edith Rhetts. All the fair co-eds are charmed by that professional bow of Reed Merryman's.
Mar. 24—Central has not yet started to climb the ladder of track victory, so we are told by the Missouri Valley contest.
Mar. 25—Grace Egner charms the judges and a certain member of the audience at the song tryouts held at Manual.
Mar. 26—We discover our politicians, grafters and windjammers at the annual Senior ballot election. Monroe Innes and Lillian Howard say that laziness is the spice of life.
Mar. 27—Election of Junior High officers is held. Gale Stockwell and Frank Dubach head their respective classes, while a newspaper causes riot among the underclassmen by calling them "Cub-Freshmen."
Mar. 28—The Luminary prints an article entitled "I'm Wild About Harry," whereupon Harry Joslin applies a fresh supply of "Sta-comba" to his raven locks.

Mar. 29—Central's best girl athlete races with her relay team against the Manual Sprinters, and our worst girl wind-jammer with her affirmative team, jammed against Northeast's negative, but yet the Near East question remains unsolved.

Mar. 30—We all recuperate from the Marching excitement of the past month, by declaring a holiday, in which to paint little Easter eggs.

April 1—We all disguise in new Easter clothes to "April Fool" our friends.

April 2—The Shakespeares hold the Freshmen in "A Case of Suspension" until the Minervas introduce "Their Aunt from California." Emma Kane makes a little Bohemian between acts.

April 4—The Girls' high school club elects Bernice Petersen for 1924 president.

April 5—Our front halls are transformed into a fairyland of soft lights and flowers, while the art students exhibit their wares.

April 6—We are taken to Ireland by the Dragon, where we find Mona Muncey as a princess fair, and Ralph Mohri as a Prince Charming. Stanley Johnson is adorable in a little red velvet suit and plumed hat.

A. M. We scare Northeast purple with a 55-53 decision in the dual Meet.

April 9—The boys of the dramatic department take the girls to see Dulcy. Tickets are given free.

April 10—Tommy Devona roams the halls, bearing a placard, "I want a Sweetheart". Various other masculine Centralites become Women Haters. Is it Spring fever?

April 11—The Junior high commercial classes get down to business and form a Business club.

April 12—The Gregg Writers entertain Miss Erma Reedy of Chicago, who tells the members how to become presidents' secretaries—or wives.

April 13—The Central Senior boys are so fast, they win the Interclass track meet.

April 14—Two faculty members become flighty and go up into the air—in an airplane, made by Nathan Fay and Richard Ross, Central Juniors.

April 16—Telephone operators hand us a busy line in the assembly. The boys of Central decide to install telephones.

April 19—The girls prove that they have more brains than boys, when the Senior honor roll is published. Norma Purvis leads in scholarship.

LET THE WORLD BOOK HELP YOU

Make 1923-1924 your most successful school year

A Few of the Hundreds of Ways it Will Help You

ART—Architecture, Arts and Crafts, Basketry, Drawing, China Painting, Mechanical Drawing, Painting, Pottery, Sculpture, Stained Glass, etc.

The above are but a few of the hundreds of interesting subjects in this department.

LITERATURE—Biography, Story Telling, Drama, Fiction, Poetry, English Literature, American Literature, Canadian Literature, Outlines, Quotations, etc.

The splendid review of the whole field of literature will inspire, give poise and impress with high ideals of life.

SCIENCE—Astronomy, Botany, Geology, Chemistry, Physics, Economics, Psychology, Sociology, Mathematics, Zoology, etc.

Every department of science is adequately presented in numerous articles.

Save time, stimulate interest, visualize knowledge, and make your research and special work a genuine pleasure.

Ask Central High School students what THE WORLD BOOK is doing for them.

$5,000.00 A DAY!

Five thousand dollars was less than the average amount paid to policy holders and beneficiaries by the Business Men's Assurance Company every working day during the year 1922!

How about you? Are you amply protected against loss of income from disability when accident or illness comes? Are your loved ones amply protected against the complete loss of your earnings when death occurs?

Nearly 100,000 business men and women enjoy an active partnership in this company. Their appreciation of the unequalled service rendered, is responsible for our remarkable progress. The following record of growth stands unequalled by any other similar company in the insurance world.
